

Aylesworth Home From the East

A. J. Aylesworth was an arrival in Tonopah yesterday from the east. Mr. Aylesworth is on his way to Goldfield, where he will remain for a few days before proceeding to Reno, where he will make arrangements for the construction of one of the finest theaters in the west.

Mr. Aylesworth was seen by a representative of the Bonanza concerning the erection of a playhouse in this city. He said that he had options on buildings in this city and that by fall he would in all likelihood exercise one of them.

"It is not my intention to build in Tonopah," said Mr. Aylesworth. "I will, however, remodel one of the buildings on which I have an option and make of the place a good theater. Tonopah looks better to me than when I left. I have heard a great deal on the outside concerning the prosperity of this camp and from a personal investigation I feel warranted in saying that it is one of the best towns that I have seen in my travels.

"While in the east I made arrangements to bring to this section some of the very best shows that are now on the road. I will have almost the complete booking for Nevada."

Mr. Aylesworth stated that money was loosening up in the east. He believes that as soon as the tariff measure is disposed of by congress that the country will again enjoy flush times.

"Wherever I went in the east," said Mr. Aylesworth, "people were anxious to get to the west. There the citizens believe that this country is one of golden opportunities. Thousands of them are clamoring for homes here. The east has surely awakened to the possibilities of the west. There is a tide of travel headed this way that cannot be stopped."

Prisoner To Be Taken To Carson

Postoffice Inspector W. G. Swain and Deputy United States Marshal Henry Mack arrived in Tonopah yesterday in connection with the case of the attempted robbery of the postoffice Saturday night last. This morning the prisoner will be taken to Carson by the marshal, while Inspector Swain will proceed to Rhyolite where he will inquire into postal conditions at that camp.

Yesterday the man in custody was put through the sweating process by Mr. Mack. He said that his name was George McDann and that he had come to Tonopah after stopping at Reno and Schurz en route. He claimed to be a native of Iowa. After he had told the officials that he was innocent, he said that what he had told them was a lie and that his story would come out on the witness stand.

The prisoner will be given a preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner Edwards in Carson City and will likely be bound over to await the action of the United States grand jury. The latter body has just concluded its session and it will be several months before it reconvenes, consequently if the man is held to await the action of that body, provided he is held by the commissioner, he will be compelled to remain in durance vile for quite a time.

Both the inspector and the marshal believe that the person giving his name as McDann is the guilty party. Both will set to work on the case in an endeavor to connect the man with the crime. The circumstantial evidence is very strong against him and the officials hope to gather some positive proof. McDann will be charged with attempted larceny. Chief of Police Malley and other witnesses will appear for the government at the preliminary hearing of the man accused of the crime.

ELLEFORDS CLOSE ENGAGEMENT HERE

"From Farm to Factory" a winner.

The Elleford company, which has held forth at the Pavilion for the past ten days, presented the rural drama "From Farm to Factory" last evening, and the performance was highly enjoyed by those present. It is hard to say why this excellent company has not received better patronage for the productions have been worth more than prices charged. The only reason that we can account for it is the general depression that exists all over the state at the present time and the exceedingly warm weather. The Ellefords will always be greeted with welcome whenever they come this way again and we sincerely trust that they will.

The company left this morning for Bishop where they play a week's engagement and we cheerfully recommend them to the theatergoers of that town.

MEN QUIT COMPANY OWING TO LAY OFFS

The constant lay-offs at the Ogden shops of the Southern Pacific railroad which have apparently become one of the fixed institutions of the company, have resulted in the company losing some of the best men in its employ. A number of machinists who have been with the Southern Pacific for years have recently resigned their positions to accept jobs with the Northern Pacific at Billings, Missoula and other division points. There are others who contemplate doing likewise unless the company can furnish them with steady employment.

Newspaper men, as a rule, have but two things to sell—space and subscription—and it would be just as consistent to ask your grocer for a dozen oranges "just to fill up" as to ask the editor for a dozen lines in his paper just to boost your business in helping to "fill up" space. TWENTY-FIVE DAYS' SENTENCE FOR BEATING WOMAN

Judge Atkinson has been busy the past few days dealing out justice to those who have seen fit to engage in controversy with his majesty, the law. One Fisher, who makes his living in the easiest way possible, will languish for twenty-five days in the county bastille for maltreating a woman.

Another man by the name of Ingersoll believed that it was a great deal cheaper to move than to pay room rent or board. At the Colorado house he was wont to appease his hunger. He did so with no knowledge of how or when he would pay for the same. The management of the Colorado house resorted to the law. In turn, the law said that Ingersoll should pay his bill by languishing in the jail for a period of twenty-five days and there he will remain until his sentence is finished. Meanwhile he will be able to keep his crew supplied with the condiments of the market at the expense of the county.

OLD SPORTS—

HOP HEAD HAD CASE CARD PANTS

Hawthorne was infested with more than its share of opium fiends, commonly known as "hop heads." The authorities of that peaceful burg took it into their heads to rid the community of the element that dreams of things that are not. One day a large consignment was huddled together and told to move to other places. It so happened as the story goes, that the boys of the pipe wended their way to Manhattan. One of the crowd, whose name is just as well left unmentioned, was what is considered a fit. Reaching their destination, they proceeded to fill up with the juice of the poppy.

Our illustrious fiend, after having imbibed of the weed, went down town and stopped in front of one of the leading saloons. There chanced that way an Indian. Said he to the redskin, after partaking of a hearty handshake with the dusky son of the forest, "White man no good, eh, he taken all injun's land?"

The Indian granted his approval of the hop head's remark. "Well," said the fiend, "I never did think that was just right and I have concluded to hand my bit back."

This same character was standing on the street one day when a dog happened along and took a chunk out of his khaki pants. He looked at the animal for a moment and then said, "Well, I am glad I am in an overall country, for this pair of pants is a case with me."

STOCK MARKET

The feature of the stock market yesterday was the trading in the Goldfields. Consolidated continues to fall and is now but a little above the $6 mark. Booth is about the only one of the Goldfield listed securities that showed an advance. The cause of the rise in the latter is occasioned by the report that a strike has been made in that estate. The recent visit of Herman Zaidig to the property is said to have been brought about by the finding of ore. The others acted in such a manner that they are not worthy of mention. The Tonopahs, as they are wont to do, held their own.

Manhattan Pays Its Respect to Memory of its Mine Victims

The body of Roy Parr, who met his death at Manhattan Sunday afternoon, arrived in this city yesterday morning and was shipped to his parents in Oakland. Yesterday Thomas Kendall received a telegram from the father of the young man that he would arrive in Tonopah within the next four or five days from which it is evident that it is the intention of Mr. Parr to visit this section immediately following the funeral of his son to inquire into the cause of his death. The telegram was dated at Reno.

The remains of A. J. Elton, another of the victims of the terrible disaster, are now on the way to Tonopah and should reach here this morning. Yesterday Vice Chancellor Cowden of the local lodge of Knights of Pythias received a telegram from the grand chancellor of the lodge at The Dalles, Oregon, which read as follows:

"Ship body of Elton to me at Dalles, Oregon.

"J. O. ROSE,

"Chancellor Commander."

Acting upon the instructions, the local lodge will attend to the shipment of the remains as requested.

Elton was formerly a member of the order at The Dalles, later transferring to Burke, Idaho, and from there to Tonopah.

Yesterday services over the remains of both Elton and Hoff were held in Manhattan under the auspices of members of the Knights of Pythias residing there.

Under the blue dome of heaven, nearly every resident of the northern camp gathered to do homage to the memory of the young men whose lives were sacrificed in such a terrible manner. Men, women and children gathered at the biers of them who had been called to an untimely end by the un-respecting hand of fate.

The services were held in the open, the bodies lying in their coffins on the front porch of the morgue. The Manhattan brass band played "Nearer My God to Thee," after which the impressive services of the Knights of Pythias was read. Following the services, a choir sang beautifully "Shall We Gather at the River," and "It Is Well With My Soul," two favorite hymns of Mr. Hoff.

Following the singing by the choir, Mrs. Homer Ross sang in a most impressive manner "Jesus, Savior, Pilot Me."

Rev. Robinson, who happened to be in camp, read from the scriptures, which was followed by another solo by Mrs. Ross, "Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight."

Mrs. George C. Porter, a sister of Mr. Hoff, attended the services, having come from Austin for that purpose. The ceremonies were the saddest that have ever been held in the Pine Tree camp and likely the most sorrowful that will come to the notice of the people there for many and many a day.
